Focus Attention

The Carmel Sanitary District proposes to reclaim and distribute 1200 acre-feet of sewage for irrigation of Pebble Beach golf courses. The cost? Fourteen to 20 million dollars.

Twelve hundred acre-feet of fresh water storage could be added to the planned dam by raising the height a couple of feet. The cost? Less than one million dollars according to published figures of the water district.

The Carmel project would partially satisfy only one of the local water management goals approved by state agencies. It would provide no long term drought reserve water to stave off rationing. It would do nothing to stop the continued destruction of thousands of steelhead annually. It would provide no surface flows to irrigate the willows which inhibit river bank erosion. It would contribute no surface or underground flushing flows to preserve the quality of the aquifer used for the major portion of municipal water supply.

The singular characteristic of the Carmel project is that it would provide irrigation water to keep the fairways green for the tourists when the rest of us will be undergoing rationing in the drought years. That's fine—if the tourists pay for it.

Water board politicians have been joined by their colleagues on the Carmel City Council and the County Board of Supervisors to effectively thwart a reclamation/irrigation project which would have been funded by the private sector. They now propose a "joint powers agency" to spread the excessive costs of the Carmel project to a broader base of taxpayers in the county and to solicit subsidies from tax dollars at the state and federal level. If the local taxpayers balk perhaps taxpayers in Seaside, King City, Porterville or Biloxi will not be so well informed.

Our president and congress are striving to reduce governmental budgets and deficits. Their success at the national level will surely impact state and county finances. President Reagan has asked for the elimination of wasteful and unnecessary expenditures.

Given the facts and the circumstances is it not appalling that the local politicians appear, hands out, begging at the state trough? A viable alternative to their proposal exists. It has far greater benefits to the taxpayers at a much smaller unit cost. They should be turned away.

The misbegotten, stillborn, brainchild of the tax-hungry Carmel politicians should be reburied. No local, county, state, or federal taxpayers should be forced to subsidize it. If the Pebble Beach Corporation wishes to finance a reclamation/irrigation project to serve its customers, that is fine. Otherwise forget reclamation locally for the time being.

The politicians should focus their attention, taxpayers' dollars, efforts of staff and the attention of the public on the real solution. That is the conservation of the billions of gallons of water now wasted in the winter storm flows of the Carmel River.

Ed Lee

Let's Not Forget

Tuesday, January 28, 1986 will be remembered by millions of people who saw the disaster that took the lives of seven American Astronauts within a minute and a half after lift off.

As the nation undergoes a period of mourning, I began to think that as time passes and the years slip by, people will have a tendency to forget the sacrifices made by our space explorers.

Congress should pass a resolution or directive that every year on January 28th, our flag, on all Federal installations, should be flown at half mast between 11 to 12 a.m. or all day as a remembrance to all who have perished in pioneering the exploration of space. State and local communities will use their own discretion and I'm sure many individuals will do the same.

If you feel as I do, write the people who represent you in Congress, the President and the media. At least once a year we will pay our respects to these heroes of space exploration from which the whole world has benefitted.

Mid Valley Fire Department On The Mend

To familiarize new Board members with some techniques, the Mid Valley fire fighters recently demonstrated their skills on a staged auto fire (left) and using the "jaws of life" (below).

New Directors and Fire Chief (l to r) President Anne McGowan, Tim Heasont, George Harner, Chief Jim Barrett (back) Gene Erner and Robert Greenwood.

After its recent upheaval, the Mid Valley Fire Department is now on the mend. It is again working with a full compliment of new Directors and also has a new fire chief.

Appointed as Fire Chief was Jim Barrett of Turlock, California. Prior to his appointment he headed Turlock's all volunteer fire department. He was active in the community and taught CPR and First Aid. As the new Fire Chief, Barrett brings his commitment to the community to Mid Valley. "A fire department is more than just a public agency that puts out fires," he said. "If you can't call a fireman who can you call."

Barrett looks forward to "getting his feet on the ground," at the department and spending time at his hobby of rebuilding classic Chevy's. His wife Shannon, 13 year-old daughter, Nichole, and 10 year-old son, Brandon

Postmaster Says Get Your Returns In Early

While taxpayers have until midnight, April 15, to mail their income tax returns, Postmaster Terry Williams of Carmel Valley urges local residents to file as soon as possible.

Taxpayers also are reminded that the Internal Revenue Service, in compliance with its regulations, will not pay postage due costs for federal income tax returns mailed with insufficient postage or no postage at all. Such mail will be returned to sender.

To minimize delays and any resulting penalties for late filings due to IRS refusal to pay postage due charges, Postmaster Williams said, customers should mail early and, if necessary, check with postal clerks to ensure proper postage is affixed to each return.

He added that a return address should be included on the outside of the envelope.

The Latest News About Contact Lenses

Disposable Contact Lenses: In a report put out by the Review of Optometry magazine, an experimental new "disposable lens" program introduced recently by Bausch & Lomb seemed to hold both promise and problems. The program involved throwing away old lenses after 3 months and replacing them with new ones. The patient was instructed to see the doctor every six months to ensure that the lenses were not causing any damage to the eyes. A problem with the program was that the price of the lenses was not discounted to give the patient a break on the purchase of the disposable lenses. Also it was noted that some patients may need new lenses every two months while others may need them every six months. In our opinion, disposable contact lenses are not yet a good idea. The most important consideration, especially with extended wear contact lenses, is to make sure you follow instructions carefully and receive proper follow-up care.

New Super Gas Permeable Hard Contact Lenses: In the past, a major problem with hard contact lenses was that not enough oxygen could get to the front surface of the eye. Because of this problem a new hard gas permeable (HGP) lens was developed. This lens solved many problems but was not as permeable to oxygen as the soft extended wear lenses which you can wear overnight. Recently two new HGP lenses were developed which are just as permeable to oxygen as the soft extended wear contact lenses. The manufacturers of these new lenses are hoping to get their lenses approved for extended wear. They are currently available for daily wear.

Even though HGP lenses are not initially as comfortable as soft contact lenses, HGP lenses (aka semi-hard lenses) have many advantages. They are more durable than soft lenses and may last up to 5 years. They also resist deposits better. Optically, they give sharper, crisper vision and correct for astigmatism, a visual problem which is difficult to correct with soft contact lenses. HGP lenses are also easier to care for than soft lenses.

will be moving to Mid Valley this summer.

The newly appointed Directors for the Mid Valley Fire District include Anne McGowan, Dr. Tim Heaston, George Harner, Robert Greenwood and Gene Erner. Appointed by Fifth District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman, the new directors were chosen for their commitment to the community and the skills they bring to the District.

President Anne McGowan is an attorney by trade. She and her husband Joseph have lived in Mid Valley since 1979. They have four children. Among McGowan's activities are terms on the Hidden Valley Board of Directors, Monterey County Women Lawyers Association and the Mental Health Administration Board. She has also been a director on the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association (CVPOA).

Gene Erner is a retired Navy Captain currently in real estate. He now heads the CVPOA and serves on the Kiwanis Board of Directors. Previously he served on the board for Hidden Valley. He and his wife, Gerrie, have lived in Mid Valley for 10 years and have four adult children. He joined the District board because of his appreciation of the importance of health and welfare for the community.

Robert Greenwood brings a variety of skills to the Board. A Professor of

The best hope for control of acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS) in the immediate future is behavior modification, not vaccines, according to infectious disease specialist Dr. Geraldine Taplin of Monterey.

Dr. Taplin, with Dr. Steven Packer and Jean Ford, R.N., will conduct a free community health program, "AIDS Update," from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, March 15 in the Main Conference Room at Community Hospital. The public is invited to come and ask questions about the disease.

Dr. Taplin will present an overview of AIDS and discuss principles of transmission; Dr. Packer, an internist, will discuss clinical characteristics of the disease; and Ford, a psychiatric nurse at Community Hospital, will talk about psychosocial aspects of AIDS.

Ford, who counsels AIDS patients, said she will focus her comments on two groups—those at high risk for contracting AIDS, and the "worried well" whose fears may be unfounded.

"We'll address the homophobic, unrealistic fears of the worried well," she said. "We want to stress that AIDS is not contagious in a public setting."

Dr. Packer will discuss the symptoms and clinical manifestations of AIDS and will emphasize that "It's an extremely uncommon disease in non-high risk groups," he said. "The sensitivity of the AIDS antibody test is 99 percent, but not everyone who tests positive for the antibody has AIDS," Dr. Packer said.

After the presentations, 30 to 45 minutes will be set aside for questions and answers. Seating is limited, so early arrival is recommended. For more information, call 625-4505.

Issues Of Recovery To Be Presented

"Spirituality and Recovery," the sixth and last of a series of lectures on "Issues in Recovery" by Janet Hurley MFCC, will be presented by Beacon House, March 9, 6-9 p.m. at the Pacific Grove Community Center, 515 Junipero. Cost is $6 at the door with proceeds benefiting Beacon House. Call 372-2334 for information.

Geology, his experience includes administration, budgeting, hiring staff and equipment purchases. Greenwood also serves on the CVPOA and is an avid Sierra Club supporter.

Gerald Harner has been a Mid Valley resident for 7 years. His concern for public safety prompted his term on the fire department board. He currently holds licenses in real estate and California Life and Disability Insurance and variable annuities. Other activities include the American Red Cross and serving as Executive Director for the United Way.

Tim Heaston, D.D.S., has dental offices located in Mid Valley and Pacific Grove. He and his wife, Julie, also own the Farm Center Store. Both have been residents at Mid Valley for 10 years. Among Heaston's other activities are directorships on the Carmel Valley and Pacific Chambers of Commerce, Tierra Grande Home Owners Association and membership in the Rotary.

The first meeting with all the new directors was held Feb. 19 when Chief Barrett received his badge. The department also organized a family barbecue for the new chief, directors and the fire department staff and volunteers.

As for the future of the department president Anne McGowan said they are looking to improve the facilities and hope to entice more volunteers to join.

Board meetings for the Mid Valley Fire District are held the third Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the fire station. The meetings are open to the public.

A True Story

Robert (not his real name) was a husky, tall boy in one of the middle grades in elementary school. He could only read words with which he could associate a picture, such as: house, tree, etc. He was unable to read any of the abstract words like: with, that, for, were, from and so on. You might say that he couldn't read, because of what use was it to him to be able to pick out an occasional word whereas the rest of them remained a mystery? A printed page would be meaningless and he would be denied the rich treasures of literature.

Unless some of you who are reading this have ever suffered from stumbling blocks while attempting to read, you would be unable to imagine that he probably felt extremely frustrated and worthless. Some children experiencing difficulty with reading react by "acting out" and becoming a behavior problem. In Robert's case, he withdrew and stopped talking to anyone except his immediate family. To anyone speaking to him, he would show a set, immobile face and give no verbal response. His eyes were the only part of his face that moved.

After he had learned to write and to read the phonograms, that is the single letters and the two or more letters that are symbols for the approximate 48 sounds of the English language, a marvelous transformation took place. He discovered that because he had internalized these symbols for the sounds, and could recall them at will, he REALLY COULD READ ALL WORDS! His reaction could be compared with how the champagne foams and bubbles when the cork is removed, only this was more exciting. He bubbled! He laughed! He talked a "blue streak"! It was most amazing and awe-inspiring. For the first time he acted like a real boy. Doesn't that give some indication of how oppressive a burden it is when any child is hindered from reaching full potential? There are quite a few children whose brains work in a different way. Despite their average to high intelligence, there's a big gap between their achievement and their potential. These children need special help to train the brain so that they can succeed at academic tasks. They need to use all of their senses to learn because their rote memory (ability to memorize) is poor. They need to over-learn, using auditory (hearing it), visual (seeing it), and kinesthetic (feeling it) methods.

If your child has any difficulty in learning to read, understand, spell or write, please get help during the last semester of first grade. The emotional problem becomes greater as time goes by. My dedication is to save any child from the pain of failure or low achievement. The lack of reading skills drastically affects a child's life. That's why the name of my program is READING FOR LIFE. Please call 659-2305 for help.

PURE DRINKING WATER IS NO LONGER A SAFE ASSUMPTION UNLESS YOU USE MULTI-PURE

THE ALARMING FACTS:

- Water pollution is increasing from sewage and industrial chemical wastes.
- Asbestos pollution from pipes and the ground is on the increase.
- Treatment plants are inadequate.
- Over 70,000 chemical compounds are now in use and 1,000 new compounds are being introduced each year.
- Chlorination has been linked to cancer.
- The purity of your tap water cannot be guaranteed.

According to the director of the United States Environmental Protection Agency, Mr. Ruchelshaus, chemical contamination is the #1 environmental problem facing this nation. According to the news media (nationwide T.V., Radio, major magazines [Newsweek, TIME, Consumer Report, etc.]), recent independent and government sponsored studies show that the drinking water throughout our nation is rapidly becoming a threat to life itself, due to chemical (including chlorine) contamination.

President Eastwood

by Jim Greenan

I realize that I am stating the obvious when I say that Clint Eastwood is running for Mayor of Carmel as a springboard to the Presidency. Every thinking person with whom I have discussed this—I know two, possibly three—agrees with this political observation; and furthermore, they all agree that it is a brilliant move.

There is one tiny problem to this masterstroke. The present Mayor of Carmel-by-the-Sea, Charlotte Townsend. Now, Clint up against aging Senator Alan Cranston? A cinch! Head to head with that southern California dandy, Senator Pete Wilson? What could the answer be but Magnum Force, good old make-my-day Eastwood; and, the list goes on.

But Charlotte, that tough-minded little geranium pot, that mirror reflection of many, many of quaint, cute little Carmel's registered voters, up against Clint? Dirty Harry beating up on your mother's best friend? Good Golly, Miss Molly, we have a situation here!

There are some answers to this, Clint, and you had better get going on them. First you had best deny that you have any notion of riding into Washington after the reign of RR. See, that will confirm, by denial, this thinking about the springboard to the Oval Office. Around the Carmel Valley, braced up against the green felt of pool tables, this is what the locals call reverse English. Having firmly refuted the idea, you will start the Carmel masses, all three thousand, seven hundred thirty seven of them, thinking of you at the helm of the Ship of State and divert the backlash of you as a King-Hell mugger of ladies.

Now you are on solid ground. The minute people start thinking of you up against Gorbachev, you giving that deadeye look to Mumar Kaddafi, you are in business. I don't want to put Ronald Reagan down, after all he is our leader, but he simply is not in the same league with you. His best pictures were ones in which he played second fiddle to Errol Flynn, Robert Cummings, for the love of Pete. (I will not mention apes; that would be a cheap shot.)

Get people thinking of you in a televised press conference. Let them imagine you fielding one of growling Sam Donaldson's persistent questions on your personal life and think how Sam's voice will start to break as you continue to look at him, the beard stubble growing on your face, the serape starting to form over your shoulders. I am talking the real stuff here, Clint; if Reagan has restored some of our macho image around the globe, it staggers the mind to consider what you will do in your eight years.

In the meantime, you have to beat sweet Charlotte, nevermind that after that, it's a piece of cake.

An incident wouldn't hurt. Maybe you could ride around in a squad car with some of Carmel's finest; and, answer a call in person about a prowler. "I hear you have somebody peeking in the windows, mam; I'll just take a little mosey around." and you tip your hat and make a tour of the petunias. Do that just once, Clint, and the good word will be all over the parish before tea the next afternoon.

Well, we're all for you Clint, here in Carmel Valley. I've talked to a number of good old boys up this way and you're their man. They just slap their knees and laugh, belly up to the bar at the Running Iron Saloon and call for strong drink. And when I run up a trial balloon about the Presidency and all that, why their eyes just glisten! It's touching, Clint. You ought to come up this way and have a beer or two with us. 'Preciate it, we surely would.

Students Honored By DAR

Tom Hawkins and Margaret Snow of the Carmel Middle School were among the students honored by the Commodore Sloat Chapter of the DAR. The students were among the recipients for the chapter's annual Good Citizenship Awards. Also recognized were Elizabeth Bracher and John Barrett from All Saints Episcopal School. The students received their awards at a luncheon held Feb. 18 at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula.

Each year the DAR selects students from each of the peninsula schools and recognizes them for their academic, social and extracurricular activities.

CUSD — First To Start Fingerprinting

It became law in 1985 that school districts must offer a fingerprinting program and some form of child abuse training. To comply with the law, the Carmel Unified School District is the first district to initiate such programs.

The fingerprinting program will begin March 5 at River School. Other dates scheduled are 9 a.m. March 12 for the Middle School and 10 a.m. March 18 for Tularcitos. Only K-6 students will be fingerprinted. There is no charge to the parents.

The fingerprinting is not to suggest a problem in the area with missing children. According to Sande Falahati, a school volunteer helping to organize the program, it is "taking a step before anything happens."

Missing children is "something parents tend to overlook because the community is so small," said Falahati. If a child is missing, the fingerprints help get information out quicker and into the national computers.

Only one set of prints will be made which will be kept by the parents. The school will keep the release forms signed by the parents. Parents are being asked to cooperate by picking up their child's print card at the school. Unclaimed cards will be sent home with the children.

Though plans are underway, as yet, there are no dates set for the child abuse program, said Ms. Falahati. The program will include avoiding enticements and saying no if a situation doesn't feel right.

Middle Schoolers To Visit Spain

Twenty-five, sixth grade, Middle School honor students are receiving a bonus this year for getting high grades. They will spend 14 days in Majorica, Spain as foreign exchange students in a special program initiated by District Superintendent Dr. Robert Infelise.

To help bear the expense of the program, a Sports Swap will be held at Carmel Middle School on March 23 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Residents are invited to bring any sports equipment they might want to trade.

All trades will be up to the equipment owners. The school will charge only a $5 admission and parking fee.

Other activities include a raffle for sports packages, a barbecue and other entertainment.

Recreation And Park District Directors Will Meet March 12

Directors of the Carmel Valley Recreation and Park District will meet at 7 p.m. March 12 at the Activity House, 25 Ford Road. The meeting is open to the public. The District records will be available prior to the meeting at 6 p.m.

CVPOA To Meet March 12

The Carmel Valley Property Owners Association Board of Directors will meet at 7:30 p.m. on March 12 at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church on Robinson Canyon Road. The meeting is open to the public.

On the agenda is a presentation on an equestrian center proposed for the Rancho Don Juan property adjacent to Garland Ranch Regional Park.

CUSD Trustees Will Meet March 11

The Carmel Unified School District Board of Trustees will meet at 7 p.m. March 11 at the Carmel Middle School. The meeting is open to the public.

Chapel Preschool To Hold Fun Night For Kids

The Carmel Valley Chapel Preschool is offering a "Children's Fun Nite" on March 7 from 5 to 10:30 p.m. The event is open to children from ages 3 to 8.

The theme for the evening will be "Circus" time and will feature Ono the Clown and a spaghetti dinner. Other activities include will be singing, games, crafts and movies.

The cost is $10 per child, $15 for 2 siblings. Reservations are required.

For information and reservations, call 659-3030.

And The Rains Came...

Our recent sunshine has left no trace of the rains that wreaked havoc on many parts of California from Feb. 12 through 21. According to Graham Matthews, retired teacher and veteran weather observer, the total rainfall for that period was 7.21 inches, an average of 1.07 inches per day. Considering the normal daily average for February is .1187117 inches per day, I guess you could say we had slightly above average rains.

Editor's Note: In case you didn't know it, Mr. Matthews is the one who keeps the rainfall record at the Village post office up to date.)

A Helpful Hint

Don Soule has come up with a helpful hint for our readers who are troubled with aphids on their fruit trees: It seems you can reduce your aphid problem by putting a Sergeant's Flea Collar around the base of the tree. The reason this works said University of California Farm Advisor Larry Bettriga, is "probably" because the flea collar kills the ants. The ants tend and milk the aphids and prevent natural predators and parasites from killing them. With the ants gone, the aphids have no protection.

Perhaps you have a helpful hint too. Call or send them in and we'll be happy to share them.
